

EGATIN STUDY DAYS

A listing of topics and papers presented at Study Days

April 2005

The Didactic Matrix

Rome, Italy

Papers:

Malcolm Pines: "Can group analysis become an academic discipline?"

Romolo Rossi "Protagoras. Group and surroundings".

Felix de Mendelssohn: "Glocalisation in the didactic matrix of group analytic training"

Jaime Ondarza Linares: "Resistances within the didactic matrix".

Kristian Valbak: "Research in the didactic matrix".

June 2004

Supervision in training and in professional life

Split, Croatia

Papers:

Experiences in supervision from IGA Zagreb; Rudolf Gregurek, Ljiljana Moro, Gorana Tocilj-Šimunković, Ivan Urlic

Group supervision: Focus on counter – transference; Eric Moss (Tel Aviv):

Matrix and reverie in supervision groups; Avi Berman, Miriam Berger (Tel Aviv):

Research results from the application of a new supervision method to protocols from various psychotherapeutic activities; Zoe Voyatzaki (Athens)

Experiences in conducting group supervision for individual therapists; Sarah Kalai (Jerusalem):

Supervision and the interpersonal pathology; Robi Friedman (Haifa):

May 2003

Narratives in Groups

Stockholm, Sweden

Papers

The Importance of Narratives; Lars-Christer Hyden, Stockholm

The Group Analyst's Tale; Jane Campbell, London

Round Table: Stories from Different Institutes; Kevin Power

Narratives and Rituals in Search of Truth; Lars Lorentzon, Stockholm

Narratives in Small, Median and Large Groups of the Group Analytic Paideia; Margarita Kritikou, Athens

The Stories that Dreams are Telling Inge Widlund, Stockholm

Using Dreams in Working with War Veterans Ivan Urlic, Zagreb

On Venetian Blinds: Figures and Figurations in Group Narratives Dieter Nitzgen, Heidelberg

May/June 2002

The Group Conductor

Aarhus (Denmark)

Papers

Gender issues in group conducting; Peter Ramsing, Aarhus

Conducting in the Context of Leadership ? Inge Widlund, Stockholm

Recognizing inner and outer realities as a process: On some countertransferential issues of the group conductor; Ivan Urlic, Zagreb

The small and median group conductor: Similarities and differences; Rocco Pisani, Rome

Humour and the therapist; Kristian Valbak, Aarhus

How did I become the group conductor I am? - Introjections and identification-processes in group-analytic training; Ruedi Olivieri, Wetzikon

Reflections 'on' and 'in' the place of clinical supervision in the training of group analytic psychotherapists: towards a group dynamic model for professional education; Christopher Scanlon, London

Extracts from The End of Abuse a play about psychotherapy by John Woods

May 2001

Training in Transition: Present and Future Formats of Group Analytic Training.
Heidelberg, Germany

Papers

The History and Future Direction of Group Analytic Training; Malcolm Pines, London.

On the Development of Group Analytic Training in Hungary; Piroska Komlosi, Budapest Group Analytic Training at the University; Kevin Power, London

Crisis and Change in the institutional structure and curriculum of the IGA Heidelberg; Dietlind Kohncke and Pieter Hutz, Heidelberg

The History of the Forum of Applied Group Analysis at the IGA Heidelberg; Elizabeth Rohr, Heidelberg

Inpatient Group Therapy: a needed and neglected field of training; Dieter Nitzgen

Group Analytic Training and the Scientific Obligation; Kristian Valbak, Aarhus

Dialogue and Exchange: EGATIN's role in the group analytic community; Sylvia Hutchinson, London

September 2000

Democracy and Transference Turmoil in Group Analytic Training

Cracow, Poland

Papers

Training in Democracy, Democracy in Training Dieter Nitzgen, Heidelberg

From Dependence and Hierarchy to Autonomy and Freedom Panel from Warsaw Institute

May 2000

Authority and Leadership in Group Analytic Training

Vilnius, Lithuania

Papers

Group Analytic Overseas Training and Training Politics Jane Campbell, London Group Analytic Training in Baltic States - Why and How? Eugenius Laurinaitis

Flattening of the Hierarchical Pyramid in Organisations Stanley Schneider, Jerusalem Different Power Sources of Influencing People in Organisations Viginus Lepaska

Authority and Leadership Issues: A View from a London Qualifying Course Training Bonnie Gold, London

Authority and Leadership Issues in Block Training Programmes in Group Analysis Steinar Lorentzen, Oslo

May 1999

One Group Analysis or Many? the impact of theory on group analytic practice

Oslo, Norway

Papers

Application of group analysis in national mental health services - competition or networking? IGA, Norway presentation

Introductory Remarks Dieter Nitzgen, Heidelberg
Taking the group seriously: towards a post-Foulkesian group analysis Farhad Dalal, London
Self and other in Group Analysis Sigmund Karterud, Oslo Panel
Presentation Soren Aagaard, Copenhagen

April 1998

The unconscious at work in training organisations
Zurich, Switzerland
Papers

The training concept of SGAZ- history, development and dynamic concepts SGAZ Panel, Zurich
The vicissitudes of the desire to become a group analyst Werner Knauss, Heidelberg and Ruedi
Olivieri- Larsson, Wetzikon
From demand to desire. What do we offer when we offer group-analytic training? Dieter
Nitzgen, Heidelberg
The impact of unconscious processes on the personal and organisational functioning of a group analytic institution Panel from Warsaw

October 1997

Group-Analytic training Programmes Within Hospital Settings
Dubrovnik, Croatia

Papers

Essential Training Standards for Qualification in Group Analytic Therapy Sylvia
Hutchinson, London
Introducing the Institute of Group Analysis, Zagreb Ivan Urlic, Zagreb
Training of Nurses in Group Psychotherapy within Psychiatric Institutions Eduard Klain, Zagreb
Our Experience in Group Training Drobec Drazenka, Smrekar Jadranka, Silvija Delija, Nenad
Kammerman, Zagreb

April 1996

The Group Analytic Training: Guidelines for Minimum Training Standards
Munster, Germany

Papers

The Munster Training Concept- its Structure and Philosophy Regine Scholz, Munster
Summary and Evaluation of the EGATIN Enquiry: Guidelines for Minimum Training
Standards Sylvia Hutchinson, London
Play or Reality: Experiences with the Change of Roles within the Group Analytic
Training Jutta Mester, Munster
To Mix or Not to Mix. Should trainees do their personal analysis in homogenous groups or in mixed groups together with patients? Yannis Tsegos, Athens

October 1995

Median and Large Groups in Group Analytic Training
Ljubljana, Slovenia

Papers

Interplay between the Large Group and Small Groups in Group Analytic Training Joseph
Shaked, Vienna
The Trainee's Experience of the Training Median Group - a Personal Account Dubravka
Trampuz, Ljubljana
The Trainee's Experience of the Training Median Group - APilot Study Lev Pozar,

Ljubljana

The Role of the Large Group in Creating a Group Analytic Training Community; Thor Kristian Island, Oslo

The Evolution of Group Analysis: The Median Group. The Importance of the Median Group in Group Analytic Training Rocco Pisani, Rome

Small, Median and Large Groups in Group Analytic Training Yannis Tsegos, Athens

March 1994

Beyond Prejudice: Networking versus Rigidity in Group-Analytic Training

Moscow, Russia

Papers

Overview of Training in Russia Leonid Kroll, Moscow

Prejudice and Therapy- the contribution of the personal group experience in group analytic training John Schlapobersky, London

Prejudice and Group Analysis Vibeke Nathan, Copenhagen

Identity and Prejudice in Group-Analytic Training Sylvia Hutchinson, London

From Mistrust and Anxieties to Recognition and Respect in a Polish-German Group Analytic Training Project Werner Knauss, Heidelberg and Jerzy Pawlik, Warsaw

October 1992

How to Maintain the Group Analytic Situation in the Training Institution

Warsaw, Poland

Papers

The Struggles with the Problem of Boundaries, Values and Identity in our Training Institution Warsaw Jerzy Pawlik, Wieslawa Lodej-Soanska, Joanna Jablonska-Dzierza, Elzbieta Pierzgalska, Warsaw

From Peers to Parents-from Trainee to Trainer Thor Kristian Island, Oslo

My Home is my Castle Harald Forst, Munster

Between Inside and Outside: the problem of maintaining the analytic space in group analytic training Ivan Lust, Budapest

March 1992

Group Analysis in Different Cultures: Training and Practice

Vilnius, Lithuania

Papers

Problems of the Well-Established Group Analytic Community Malcolm Pines, London

The Abuse of Democracy in Group-Analytic Training Institutions Ruedi Olivieri-Larsson, Zurich

The Conceptualisation of the Group Leader/Conductor in Dynamic Group Therapy

Compared with Group Analysis Werner Knauss, Heidelberg

Supervision by the Group in Group Analytic Training Yannis Tsegos, Athens

November/December 1991

Differences and Similarities in Group Analytic Block and Weekly Training

Wetzikon, Switzerland

Papers

To Block or not to Block, That is the Question Malcolm Pines, London

Group Dynamic Features in the Groups and Staff during the Psychotherapeutic Weekends
Klara Ajkay, Magdolna Barcy, Budapest

Therapeutic Factors in Group Analysis - and the Setting of Block Training Rudolph Balmer, Zurich

Strength Power and Group Analysis Yannis Tsegos, Athens

May/June 1991

Qualifying Training in Group Analysis

Copenhagen, Denmark

Papers

Yannis Tsegos, Athens

The Trainee in Therapy: The London Qualifying Course Model Sylvia Hutchinson, London

The Trainee in Therapy Werner Knauss, Heidelberg

Supervision in Group Analytic Training Ruedi Olivieri-Larsson

Academic Curricula in Group Analytic Training Soren Aagaard, Copenhagen